FRIDAY JANUARY 21, 1916

Lawrence county Democrats have endorsed Cox. They are all doing it.Having seen the democratic opposition in the house grow from 30 to 90 in one month, it is not strange that the manufacturers of munitions insist upon immediate action.—Commoner.By legal holding of the attorney general the state Board of Agriculture has been told that it cannot hire appraisers to act in matter of valuation of diseased cattle killed under the law, but that the board itself must make appraisal.In the first six months of existence the board has expended for traveling expenses $59,000, and the board members themselves have expended for the same purposes $15,000. Given an excuse of this kind there is not enough money in the treasury to pay the expenses of the board.It seems practically certain that Former Senator Joseph Benson Foraker will be a candidate for member of the Ohio delegation-at-large to the Republican national convention. If he is successful in his hopes it seems probable that he may then become a candidate for nomination for United States Senator.All around it appears that the Republican contest for delegate-at-large is to be a sort of elimination race and perhaps a state breaking feat. It will be remembered that Burton and Willis and Daugherty got together and fixed things for themselves at the same time deciding that the Big Four delegation should be: Mercer Governor Herrick, Senator Harding, Governor Willis and W. C. Prentiss. Now come Foraker and Ralph Tyler, colored commander, who cooperates with the tyrants but announces himself a candidate for the senatorial nomination. Conflicting ambitions are bound to cause trouble for somebody. If Herrick stays in the race for delegate he may find he is not so much of a senator as he thought he was. If Willis stays in the race for delegate he may find that some colored brother has sat upon his gubernatorial neck. Indeed this gets interesting.Refusal of the Republican state committees to endorse the administration of Governor Frank B. Willis was not unkind but it looks like a mighty poor brand of politics. Willis deserves better at the hands of the committees. The Republican party in Ohio as well as the administration of Governor Willis will be up for approval at the next election. From an opposing standpoint it creates a laugh to see the mess Republican leaders are in but it indicates nothing of profit. The people now know the fraud that was perpetrated on them in 1914. Willis exemplifies that fraud but his party is blamed for it. Frank B. Willis was nominated by the Republican leaders, who offered him and traded over him. The deals in which he featured were worked by Republican hands. The lies by which he profited came out of Republican mouths. Spellbinders of the Republican committees talked side by side with Willis and they vouched for him. Republican reputation at this late date of the Willis administration comes at for value—it is recognized as a difference over the division of spoils. But it will avail nothing.The quarrel of Republican leaders and of Willis brings to mind the old saying:
"When thieves fall out honest men get their due."

WHY NOT TRUST THE DEMOCRATS?

(Bryan in the Commoner)

Is it expecting too much of the President to expect him to trust the democrats in congress to share with him the responsibility of deciding for what amount of preparedness the party shall stand?
This having been declared by the President to be the paramount issue, is it fair to ignore the democratic majority in both houses and ask republicans to help him force his views upon his own party?
What reason has he to question the patriotism of democratic senators and representatives? Were they not elected by the same voters that elected him? And have they not stood by him in carrying out the pledges of his platform?

when republicans did their best to defeat his measures?Now, a new question has arisen and, on the ground that the war compels it, he asks for the adoption of a military and naval policy which the leading republicans favored, BEFORE the war, but which the democratic party has OPPOSED.
Why does he, ELECTED BEFORE THE WAR BEGAN, discredit the judgment of the democrats of the house, all of whom were elected after the war commenced?

All of these congressmen, if candidates for re-election will be affected by the active taken on preparedness—do they not deserve to be consulted?

PEOPLE WITH THE PRESIDENT

(Ohio State Journal, Republican)

Congress is excited over Mexico and a chance has arisen for intervention by this country. The excitement has arisen because if Americans were shot by a lot of bandits. There is a threat to go down there and crush Mexico for these murders. Carranza has promised to arrestand punish these murderers and is doing his best to carry out his promise. The murders are the work of a lot of bandits who are defying their government. There is a large force in Congress which insists upon the president sending a few regiments down into Mexico and clean out the marauders. The president refuses, saying that is Carranza's business and he is doing all he can.But that does not satisfy the furorists in Congress. They insist upon invading Mexico, and getting into a war, and killing several thousand American youths because of a crime that was committed in a country beyond the jurisdiction of this government and which crime that country is doing its best to avenge. It is a case for reason and not for passion, and as the president appears cautious to the threats of invasion. So often it happens that people insist upon feeling in-sulted when their only duty is to keep cool. If people insist upon getting into trouble, is that any reason for dragging our country in also? That is a pending question between Congress and the president. Upon that the people are with the president.HUNDRED YEAR OLD NURSERY IS cently on the election of Lloyd C. Stark, vice-president of Stark Bros. Nurseries

Western Association of Nurserymen, the St. Louis Republic said:This adds additional interest to the fact that this great Missouri niversary, a century of progress and growth on the site of the original nursery. From a few Pike county est concern of its kind in the United States.For any business to have lived for 100

To have lived 100 years and been a con-
